For me personally, this decade coincided with growing up. I finished high school in 1999. I have a lot of personal memories that illustrate the epoch for me, even more so as I lived in the Far East back then, which experienced a lot of changes back then. I remember the sudden blackouts and problems with heating in winter. But the majority of my memories aren’t about political upheaval, of course, but what people usually remember about school, friendship, love and so on. Many of my friends, and me, see how our generation is different from people who were born 10-15 years before. They are compl
