Historical Atlas Of Dublin

by Richard Killeen

Richard Killeen. "A sumptuous production in equal part photograph, illustration and text". Irish Examiner. "Twelve highly readable chapters of the political, social and economic history of Dublin from earliest times to the present, illustrated in colour with more than thirty maps". The Irish Times. Dublin started as a Viking trading settlement in the middle of the tenth century. Location was the key to its quick ascendancy among Irish towns. It commanded the shortest crossing to a major port in Britain. By the time the Normans arrived in Ireland in the late twelfth century,
