In summarizing parts of De Veritate Sacrae Scripturae, Wycliffe's writing which focused on the truth of the Scriptures, Herbert Workman says, From this insistence by Wyclif on this supreme authority of Scripture certain consequences followed. Wyclif sweeps away the whole mass of tradition, doctrine, and ordinances which set themselves as of equal or superior value to Scriptures, nor would he allow that what the pope decrees in matters of faith must be received, observed, and carried out as if it were Gospel. Such a claim would make the pope into Christ. All truth is contained in the Scriptures. This doctrine was basic to all Wyclif's subsequent thought, and furnished him with a locus standi from which he could judge the monstrous abuses of the existing ecclesiastical practice.
